REVIEW OF SEPTEMBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

Definite signs of some slowing down in business developed during September, particularly in the case of the iron and steel trade, usually accepted as a barometer of the country's industries. More than the ordinary conflict of views developed as to the immediate future of trade. And financial considerations protruded at every point. Evidences of inflationary tendencies in many directions—in the credit situation, in the stock market and in various other quarters—became more and more pronounced, and the question how much farther these tendencies could go without involving serious menace to the whole industrial fabric began to be gravely discussed and to receive wide and growing attention.

There was no abatement of the tension in the money market, and though the stock market suffered several bad slumps and experienced serious reverses, brokers' loans kept mounting in perfectly appalling measure. The subject of these brokers' loans is discussed in the usual place, under a separate heading further along in this article, but it may be noted here that further huge increases in the totals appeared week after week without interruption and that the aggregate of these increases for the seven weeks from Aug. 14 to Oct. 2 reached no less than $852,000,000—all piled on top of the enormous previous mass of these loans. As a result, the grand total of these loans, according to the weekly returns of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which the previous August had for the first time passed the $6,000,000,000 point, began to approach the $7,000,000,000 figure, it standing at $6,804,000,000 Oct. 2. By the Stock Exchange's own records, which are all-embracing, instead of being limited to the reporting member banks of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City, the aggregate of the borrowings, after having for the first time passed $7,000,000,000 at the end of June, by the end of September was traveling fast towards the $9,000,000,000 mark, being reported at $8,549,383,979 Sept. 30, which compares with $6,665,137,925 on May 31, showing an expansion in Stock Exchange borrowing for the four months ending Sept. 30 in the sum of $1,884,246,054.

Moreover, the repercussions of this prodigious absorption of bank credit in speculative channels, with the tension in the money market and the high rates of interest which were its natural concomitant, were world-wide. For a year or more floating capital, bankers' balances, investment and other funds from all parts of the globe have been attracted hither in ever augmenting amounts, and one European bank after another has had to advance its rate of discount, with the view to preventing the draining off of its gold holdings, which constitute the base of their monetary systems, and no one has been able to perceive when the end would come. During September the disturbing effects of all this proceeded a step further. The Bank of England, which the previous Feb. 7, during the earlier stages of the gold drain, had reluctantly raised its discount rate from 4½% to 5½% was obliged on Sept. 26 to move its rate up another 1% to 6½%, a rate prevailing only on rare occasions in the past, and the highest figure recorded for eight years, or since April 28 1921. The Governors of the Bank had valiantly resisted the latest increase in the rate, owing to the fears of ill results to British trade, the state of which was none too bright, and because of the unpopularity of the move, but the takings of gold from the Bank for export—in part for the United States, in still greater part for France, and some also for Germany—were now proceeding on such a scale, and the Bank's holdings of gold were being reduced to such a low point, being reported in the weekly return of the Bank for Sept. 25 at only £133,212,565, whereas the Cunliffe Committee had suggested £150,000,000 as the proper minimum, that further delay might have involved serious menace.

Except for the abnormal credit situation prevailing in this country, the Bank could have obtained here all the gold it could possibly have needed. Instead, it was obliged to part with additional amounts of the metal, to satisfy the inordinate requirements of this country and which are wholly the outgrowth of an unbridled speculation long maintained here. That the Bank of England did not stand alone in being obliged to take defensive measures quickly appeared. The central banks of the three Scandinavian countries, namely, Norway, Denmark, and Sweden, followed quick upon the heels of the Bank of England in raising their rates on the same day, while the next day the Bank of Austria took similar action, and early in October some other central banks also found it incumbent to move up their rates in varying amounts, all the details of which appear in their proper place in our review of the foreign exchange market on a subsequent page.

In view of such an extraordinary state of things, all having its origin in this country, it is not surprising that much uncertainty should have arisen as to the immediate future of trade, now that definite signs of a slackening in certain lines of business were becoming manifest or that views should differ as to the probable outcome. One very hopeful and optimistic view of the situation was expressed in a statement issued on Sept. 9 by Secretary of Commerce Lamont. Secretary Lamont observed that "The mid-Summer of 1929, to judge from the current statistics, has shown very little of that slump in business that was formerly considered a characteristic of the Summer season. A number of activities of industry and commerce, during June, July and August, were actually on a higher plane than during the earlier months of the year, this having been even more conspicuous than in 1928, when, in turn, Summer business was more satisfactory than in most preceding years." Mr. Lamont went further and remarked that "Not only has there been, since 1921, an unusually prolonged period substantially free from so-called crises or ups and downs in economic activity, representing the so-called business cycle, but even those variations from month to month of the year, which are the result of seasonal influence and which were formerly considered inevitable, have been cut down in extent."

To Mr. Lamont it seemed that "this result must be attributed largely to greater foresight on the part of business men producing and selling commodities as well as on the part of buyers of goods." Here, however, is where many trained students of events were inclined to take issue with the Secretary of Commerce. To these it appeared that Mr. Lamont was not giving proper consideration to the part played by inflation and speculation in providing an uninterrupted stimulus to trade activity, nor to the springing up of new industries catering to the sudden creation of previously unknown luxuries such as the motor car, the radio sets and the movie houses, the latter on a scale of magnificence never before even dreamed of. The opposite view that there has been an element of the fictitious and artificial in the country's prosperity, that everything has been overdone and that the country cannot count upon a continuance of activity on the existing scale and hence that it will be wise to be prepared for some setback found expression in certain utterances delivered by Roger W. Babson. Mr. Babson did not deal gently with either the performances on the Stock Exchange or the unwonted activity in certain lines of industry, but was especially severe in his strictures on the stock market. Mr. Babson delivered two addresses at the 16th annual National Business Conference at Babson Park, Mass., one on the business outlook, on Sept. 4, and another on the investment outlook, on Sept. 5. In this last mentioned address Mr. Babson said, among other things:

I still repeat what I have said at this time last year and the year before; namely, that sooner or later a crash is coming which will take the leading stocks and cause a decline of from 60 to 80 points in the Dow-Jones Barometer. Fair weather cannot always continue. The economic cycle is in progress to-day as in the past. The Federal Reserve System has put the banks in a strong position; but it has not changed human nature. More people are borrowing and speculating to-day than ever in our history. Sooner or later there is a crash coming and it may be a terrific one. Wise are those investors who now get out of debt and reef their sails. This doesn't mean selling all that you have, but it does mean paying up your loans and avoiding margin speculation.

What Is Keeping the Market Up?

The three greatest factors in the market to-day are: (1) foreign buying (2) investment trusts, and (3) the reluctance of people to pay Uncle Sam profit taxes. By foreign buying I have in mind the money which investors in Great Britain and Europe are sending over here to America. This money is being sent over for two purposes. First, because of the tremendous profits which have been made in American securities; and secondly, because of the fear of confiscation in Great Britain and Europe. The average Englishman and European believes that his money is safer in the United States than in his own country. Nevertheless, the greatest factor attracting this money to America is the profits which have been made in the New York market by their foreign friends. As is usual under such conditions, the heaviest buying is toward the end of the boom, because the average investor, whether American or foreign, does not get into the market until stocks are already high.

The investment trust has become a great factor in boosting prices by the buying of securities to hold. The average market operator during the past 20 years has bought to-day and has sold within a week. This means that the selling has always about equalled the buying. Under such conditions a market could be very active without any considerable increase in stock prices. The investment trust, however, has bought the leading stocks and held them. This means that there has been considerably more buying than selling, by the same people. As a result, the floating supply of these stocks has been pretty well cleaned up and it has been very easy to mark up the prices thereof. As a result, the yields of 240 representative industrial stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, now show an average rate of only 4½%, while the rate on a representative list of public utilities is only 2½%. The railroad group is selling to-day at 12 times its earnings, the industrial group at 17 times its earnings, and the public utility group at 26 times its earnings. Before the buying of the investment trusts, the general rule was that a stock was worth about 10 times its earnings. Added to the above factors, is the reluctance by individuals (both American and foreign) and by Investments Trusts, to pay income taxes.

In his address on the business outlook, Mr. Babson made the assertion that "forced accounting has probably been the greatest factor in prolonging the present period of prosperity." A warning to business men to watch their steps at the present time was contained in Mr. Babson's address, inasmuch as "certain of the same factors which have developed the boom, may cause us some day to have a smash." "It is all important," he said, "for business men to have a yard stick to measure business, but it is very possible to neglect this yard stick." "It is important," he went on to say, "for business men to have courage, initiative, and vision, but it is very possible to have optimism overrun and submerge discretion." Four factors, according to Mr. Babson, need watching:—the amount of money borrowed for building; installment buying; borrowing for speculation; retail buying on open accounts. Mr. Babson declared that the time is coming sooner or later when there will be a general shutdown on credit. "Whether," he said, "this will start at the top with the banks, or at the bottom with the small business man, we do not know." Mr. Babson contends that "unless the sales manager, promoter and speculator takes the advice of the accountant, purchasing agent and statistician, buying must some day be severely curtailed. "As buying stops," he continued, "factories will shut down; as factories are closed, men will be thrown out of work. . . . The vicious circle will get in full swing and the result will be a serious business depression." In conclusion, he stated, "there have been times when business has needed courage and credit rather than facts and figures, but to-day the great need of the hour is the latter."

Before adverting to the indications of a slowing down in certain lines of industry which became apparent during September, it is important to note that Congress has under consideration a new tariff bill under which it is proposed to raise still higher the customs barriers against the importation of foreign goods and commodities. Unquestionably this proposed new law has had some unsettling effect on trade and business, entirely apart from the feeling in conservative circles that inflation and speculation in this country are being carried too far. The uncertainty alone as to what the new rates are to be, the Senate now being engaged in completely revising the bill as it came from the House, inspires caution and a disposition to proceed slowly and deliberately in the lines of trade most immediately concerned as also those more or less remotely affected. Progress on the new measure in the Senate, as it happens, has been very slow, and there is as yet nothing to indicate when the Senate will be able to complete its labors, after which the bill, with amendments, will have to be returned to the House of Representatives, and finally to be dealt with by conference committees of the two Houses. The Senate Tariff Bill, as revised by the Republican members of the Finance Committee, was formally reported to the Senate on Sept. 4 by Senator Smoot, Chairman of the Committee, after the Committee had ordered the report by a partisan vote of 11 to 8. Chairman Smoot had, on Sept. 2, made public the report on the bill, detailing and defending the changes from the House bill made by the majority of his committee. The bill was taken up for debate in the Senate on Sept. 9, it having been made the unfinished business of the Senate for that date. In pursuance of an understanding, however, Senator Smoot on that day allowed the Tariff Bill to be laid aside temporarily while the Senate engaged in a discussion of a resolution offered by Senator F. S. Simmons, ranking Democrat, intended to obtain information from income tax returns concerning the profits and losses of taxpayers seeking tariff increases. This resolution was adopted by the Senate on Sept. 10 by a vote of 51 to 27, with 17 not voting. It authorized the Senate Committee on Finance to request the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish the committee with a statement of the profits or losses during the years 1922-1928 of corporations affected by the pending tariff legislation. Before the resolution was passed, however, Senator Simmons accepted an amendment by Senator Couzens which in effect included statistics on importers as well as manufacturers. He also accepted an amendment by Senator Blaine designed to obtain figures on the sales and the salaries of officers or employees of business houses. Very little progress was made with the debates on the tariff measure, and at a conference of Senate Republicans on Sept. 19, attended by 37 of the 55 majority members, it was decided to start the Senate sessions an hour earlier than theretofore (at 11 A. M. instead of 12 o'clock), beginning Monday, Sept. 23, with a view to expediting action on the measure. In the meantime partial lists of the corporation returns obtained as a result of the Simmons resolution were given out to the press, the Senate Finance Committee on Sept. 18 having voted 10 to 4 to make public the returns requested from the Treasury by the Democratic members.

On Sept. 24 President Hoover took occasion to declare his stand on the flexible provision of the tariff law, coming out flatly in favor of continuing the existing flexible provisions which some of the Senators sought to eliminate from the law. In voicing his views for the retention of the provision, Mr. Hoover described it as "one of the most progressive steps taken in tariff making in all our history." "I have no hesitation," said the President, "in saying that I regard it as of the utmost importance in justice to the public; as a protection for the sound progress in our economic system, and for the future protection of our farmers and our industries and consumers that the flexible tariff through the recommendation of the Tariff Commission to the executive should be maintained." It was considered significant that the President's statement was issued to the newspapers at the White House at just about the time that the Senate began consideration of the flexible provisions. As an indication that conclusion of the debate in the Senate was still a considerable way off, Associated Press advices from Washington, Sept. 26, stated that House Republican leaders had announced that they would continue until Oct. 28 instead of Oct. 14 the plan of three day recesses by the House during Senate consideration of the bill. It was also stated that Representative Garner, the Democratic leader, had approved the change. The flexible provision was still under consideration by the Senate at the close of September, but a vote on it was taken Oct. 2 and resulted in adoption of the Simmons amendment by a vote of 47 to 42. Thirteen insurgent Republicans, of various shades, joined with 34 Democrats in favor of the amendment, which lodges with Congress, instead of with the President, the power to approve changes in tariff recommended by the Tariff Commission.

Abroad delay also attended the bringing into being of the Bank for International Settlements as a part of the new German reparations payments scheme devised by Owen D. Young. One of the sub-committees named at the Hague Conference before it adjourned on Aug. 31 was charged with the duty of organizing the Bank, but difficulties began to crop up as to the date and the place for the meeting of the committee. Premier Henri Jasper, of Belgium, the permanent President of The Hague Conference, decided that the committee was to meet at Brussels on Sept. 23, but this did not suit some of the other members of the Conference, and the date for the meeting was postponed by the consent of the different Governments. Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, was quoted in cable advices as saying that neither the Young Plan nor the protocol signed by the several Governments at The Hague invested the Belgian Premier with authority to summon the various delegates to Brussels and he declared he would not accept an invitation coming from "political quarters," as he was fully determined to adhere to the principle which by unanimous consent had been incorporated in the Young Plan, to the effect that the International Bank from the very beginning should not be exposed to political influences. The British Government was also understood to be opposed to the Belgian city and to favor either Wiesbaden, Germany, or Lausanne, Switzerland. Dr. Schacht stated that while he proposed Wiesbaden as an acceptable meeting place for the organization committee he had informed Governor Emile Moreau of the Bank of France that any other location, which would not be prejudicial to the selection of a permanent seat for the Bank, would be just as acceptable to him. The experts began their deliberations early in October at Baden-Baden, Germany.

Owen D. Young, author of the reparations plan, which bears his name, and J. Pierpont Morgan, unofficial delegates to the Paris Experts' Commission which devised the plan, were asked by Minister of Finance Henri Cheron of France to name two Americans to sit on the sub-committee, and they chose Jackson E. Reynolds, President of the First National Bank of New York, and Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, for the posts. Messrs. Reynolds and Traylor sailed for Europe on Sept. 26 on the Leviathan. The French delegates to the Bank Committee are sub-Governor Moret of the Bank of France and Pierre Quesnay, head of the Economic Service of the Bank of France. Sir Charles Addis, Lord Revelstoke's successor on the Experts' Committee which drew up the Young Plan, was appointed by the Governor of the Bank of England as one of the members of the Organization Committee of the International Bank, and W. T. Layton, editor of the "Economist," of London, was designated as the other British member. The committee is to consist of 14 delegates, each of the six interested countries sending two, which, with the two American representatives, will make up the 14.

More rapid progress was made with the proposed naval disarmament conference between the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. At least a tentative agreement was reached between Great Britain and the United States on the principles to govern in such a conference, and an understanding having been come to between the United States and Great Britain themselves as to how far the two countries were prepared to go, each on its own account, in carrying out the proposals for disarmament. For the purpose of removing the minor differences still existing between the two countries, J. Ramsay MacDonald, the British Prime Minister, left London Friday night, Sept. 27, to take passage on the Berengaria, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ishbel MacDonald, in order personally to confer with President Hoover at Washington, and arrived here in New York on Oct. 4, and proceeded the same day to Washington.

With reference to the slackening of trade activity, after the seasonal recession incident to the Summer months had been almost entirely absent, indications of this were seen mainly in the iron and steel trade. Production even here continued on a large scale, though showing some decline from previous peak figures, and evidences of greater quietude were seen mainly in the lessened volume of new orders and in the diminution in back logs. A saving factor existed in expanding railroad requirements and continued demand for structural steel. The "Iron Age," in its issue of Sept. 19, stated that steel demand, although getting support from two important consuming industries, lacked the widespread buoyancy of previous months; and the possibility that the unusually active Summer months reflected an overreaching of industrial operations was being taken into account. A down turn in automobile production, following a short-lived recovery, was noted, and it was stated that the change in trend was attributable to curtailed output of low-priced cars which was more than offsetting increases by companies putting out new models. Steel mill back logs were shrinking and steel production was undergoing reduction. Further announcements of the opening of fourth-quarter books, usually at unchanged quotations, had resulted in little contracting for new business. Since the market was not advancing, consumers had no price incentive either to specify beyond their immediate needs or to obligate themselves ahead. On the contrary, they were watching for signs of price weakness. Mills, in turn, were not pushing sales lest the stability of prices might suffer.

In its issue of Sept. 26, the "Age" remarked that unquestionably the sentimental effect of expanding railroad needs was salutary and might stiffen the resistance of the mills to price pressure. At Chicago new inquiries for finished steel, including rails and track supplies, were the second largest of any week of the year to date. However, steel ingot production was now slightly under the 85% average of 12 months ago, and signs pointed to some further recession, in contrast with the rising trend of 1928. Operations in the valleys, Pittsburgh and Chicago ranged from 80% to 85%, while the Buffalo rate remained at 90%. Price developments, although not of a sweeping character, all pointed to a growing need of new business. Bars and shapes had declined $1 a ton to 1.90c., Pittsburgh. Wire nails, which recently had receded to $2.45, Cleveland or Pittsburgh, lacked firmness at that level and mills were meeting increasing resistance in their efforts to hold plain wire at $2.40. Galvanized sheets had returned to 3.50c., Pittsburgh, after an unsuccessful effort to raise the market to 3.60c. Wire rods at Cleveland had sold at $40, a concession of $2 a ton. For the second time in 1929 the "Age's" composite price for finished steel had declined. At 2.384c. a pound, the year's low, it compared with 2.398c. the previous week and 2.412c. from April 1 into August. The pig iron composite price Sept. 24 was $18.29 per ton as compared with $18.25 a month earlier.

In the case of the non-ferrous metals the price of Lake copper at New York continued unchanged throughout the entire month at 18⅛c., and the price of electrolytic copper unchanged at 17¾c. Lead at New York was advanced on Sept. 5 from 6.75c. to 6.90c. The oil situation did not remain entirely satisfactory. The trouble was mainly in the overproduction of crude petroleum. The California Gas Conservation Law did not produce the results expected, since the operators failed to yield compliance with its provisions and the State was obliged to resort to the courts to enforce its provisions. Injunction proceedings against the operators to compel compliance was sought to that end, but hearings were postponed until Oct. 14. In the week ending Sept. 21 a reduction was at length shown in the daily output, the reduction reaching 40,900 barrels per day, and there was a further reduction of 24,100 bbls. the next week, but this was due, not to any decrease in the output of California, but to a voluntary shutdown of the Oklahoma City pool, which reduced Oklahoma production by about 60,000 bbls. daily. In contrast, production in California, where the conservation law met with so much opposition, increased 16,700 bbls. for the same period. On Thursday, Sept. 12, the Oklahoma City pool operators shut in all their wells under a 30-day suspension plan. This step was in conformity with an agreement approved the day before it became operative by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission. Although the Oklahoma City action aided the conservation move, this was said to have been not the prime motive of the operators in taking the step. The chief reason for it was to allow a reorganization of pipe line collecting facilities. Another favorable development of the month was the complete cessation of production in the flush Kettleman Hills development until July 31 1931 as the result of a mutual arrangement by field operators and well owners. In gasoline prices the Atlantic Refining Co. on Sept. 9 announced a reduction of 1c. a gallon in tank wagon and service station price of gasoline in Pennsylvania and Delaware, and the Gulf Refining Co. made a similar reduction on the same day. On Sept. 10 the Standard Oil Co. of New York announced a reduction of 1c. in tank wagon and service station prices on gasoline, to apply in Staten Island, Westchester and Nassau counties. On Sept. 23 the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey made an increase of 2c. a gallon in tank wagon price of gasoline, but the same day the company put into effect a discount of 2c. per gallon on tank wagon price to dealers only.

In the textile trades the restriction of production in cotton goods seemed to be having good effect. At all events, greater activity was observable and prices stiffened appreciably, though only in a few instances were actual advances noted. Low temperatures the early part of the month stimulated consumer buying and the relatively low level of distributors' stocks acted to the same end. The price of cotton, after rising at the opening of the month, moved lower again towards the close. Middling upland spot cotton in New York was quoted at 19.55c. Sept 3, as against 19.35c. Aug. 31, but reacted to 19.10c. Sept. 5, and was 19.20c. Sept. 6., and 19.15c. Sept. 7. On Monday, Sept. 9, there came the Government estimate of the size of the crop. This proved a big surprise. Most persons thought the estimate of the crop would be over 15,000,000 bales. It proved to be 14 825,000 bales, a big reduction from the estimate of 15,543,000 bales the previous month, with the condition down to 55.4. Previous to the receipt of the report, prices on future options had declined 10@20 points on good rains in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. But prices now advanced 40 to 72 points in quick order. The shorts were caught napping. Then, however, there came a sharp reaction. Spot cotton in New York as against 19.15c. Saturday, Sept. 7, was marked up to 19.35c. on Sept. 9, following the publication of the Government estimate. The next day, however, it tumbled to 18.95c., and on Sept. 11 a further drop to 18.75c. occurred, but from this there was a recovery to 19.00c. Sept. 13. After that, however, for the rest of the month the price never again touched 19c., and on Sept. 23 was as low as 18.40c. On this last mentioned day an error of 300,000 bales in the report of ginnings to Sept. 16 by the United States Senate may have had some effect in accentuating the decline. The error consisted in making the ginnings in Georgia 727,988 bales, when they should have been 427,988 bales. The error was corrected after the close of business, and it then appeared that the total ginnings were 3,353,038 bales instead of 3,653,038 bales. The revised total of 3,353,038 bales compared with 2,500,781 bales up to the same date in 1928 and 3,504,905 bales in 1927, though it was recognized that these comparisons afforded no clue to the size of the crop, the present crop having matured unusually early owing to prolonged drought over the greater part of the cotton belt. By Sept. 25 the spot price was back to 18.85c., but then came a decline to 18.70c., with the price on Sept. 30 18.75c. The disposition was to think that favorable weather conditions were adding somewhat to the size of the crop. Print cloths at Fall River for 28-in. (64x64) remained unchanged throughout the month at 5½c.

The United States Census on Sept. 14 reported the consumption of cotton in the United States during the month of August at 558 113 bales of lint and 83,570 bales of linters, compared with 546,457 bales of lint and 79,297 bales of linters in July and 526,340 bales of lint and 70,128 bales of linters in August 1928. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York presented some very encouraging statistics for the month of August. These showed that shipments had been 326,398,000 yards, or 106.1% of production, and that sales had been 312,635,000 yards, or 101.7% of production, while stocks on hand at the end of the month amounted to 364,060,000 yards, representing a decrease during the month of 4.9%. Unfilled orders on Aug. 31 were 355,095,000 yards, being a decrease during the month of 3.7%. These unfilled orders, however, were 22.9% more than on Aug. 31 of the previous year, while the stocks were 17.6% less. Raw silk prices were somewhat higher, and Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted on Sept. 30 at $5.10@$5.15, or at the same figure as on Aug. 31, and comparing with $4.90@$4.95 July 31; $4.85@$5.00 June 29; $4.75@$4.80 May 31; $5.15@$5.30 April 30; $5.05 March 31, and $5.10@$5.15 Feb. 28. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were $4.95@$5.00 Sept. 30 against $4.90@$4.95 Aug. 31; $4.80 July 31; $4.75@$4.80 June 29, and the same May 31; $5.15@$5.20 April 30; $5.00@$5.05 March 31, and $5.15@$5.20 on Feb. 28. Crude rubber moved still lower under extensive liquidation, and ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery in the New York market were quoted at 19⅞c.@20c. Sept. 30 as against 20¼@20½c. Aug. 31; 21@21½c. July 31; 20⅜@20⅝ June 29; 21⅛@21⅜ May 31; 19⅝@19¾c. April 30; 22⅞@23⅛ March 30; 26¼@26½ Feb. 28; 22⅛@22⅜ Jan. 31, and 18@18¼c. on Dec. 31 1928.

Grain prices suffered a further decline during September except in the case of oats. The Agricultural Bureau report, issued on Sept. 10, showed greatly impaired prospects as compared with the previous season, but the outlook in Argentina and Australia did not appear so extremely bad as at one time seemed likely, some needed rains having fallen, besides which, as far as wheat is concerned, the export demand proved small, while the visible supply was extremely large and kept increasing rather than decreasing. The Agricultural Bureau forecast a Spring wheat yield some 12,000,000 bushels larger than the previous month, but even so this left the total Spring wheat production only 217,000,000 bushels as against 324,000,000 bushels in 1928, and made the total Spring and Winter wheat combined only 786,000,000 bushels against 902,000,000 bushels in 1928. The probable corn production was reduced from 2,741,000,000 bushels Aug. 1 to 2,456,000,000 bushels Sept. 1, as against 2.836.000,000 bushels harvested in 1928, while the oats crop was put at only 1,205,000,000 bushels as against 1,449,000,000 bushels harvested in 1928. The September option for wheat in Chicago, after falling from $1.36 Sept. 3 to $1.31¾ Sept. 6, advanced to $1.38 Sept. 12, following the publication of the Bureau report on Sept. 10 confirming previous reports of a heavy reduction in yield as compared with the previous year. But prices soon tumbled again, and on Sept. 25 sales occurred at $1.26, a drop of 12c., and on Sept. 30 the price touched $1.25, with the close on that day at $1.28½c. The December option for wheat in Chicago, after falling from $1.45 Sept. 3 to $1.39¾ Sept. 6, and then rising to $1.46⅛ Sept. 12, dropped to $1.31⅞ Sept. 30. September corn at Chicago touched 96c. on Sept. 25 as against $1.05⅛ on Sept. 12, and an opening price Sept. 3 of $1.04. The close Sept. 30 was at 99½c. The December corn option at Chicago fell from $1.03 on Sept. 3 to 95c. on Sept. 24, and closed Sept. 30 at 97⅜c. Oats, contrary to the course of other grains, moved higher on an active and persistent demand for consumption, small or moderate offerings and finally the relative cheapness of oats to other grain prices. September oats at Chicago closed at 52¼c. Sept. 30 as against 49c. at the opening of the month. The December oats option, however, did not share in the improvement and closed Sept. 30 at 53⅛c. against an opening price of 54c. on Sept. 3.

Sugar prices moved higher with the Cuban Export Corporation functioning as the single selling agency. Cuban raw sugar here sold at 2 5/16c. at the end of September as against 2 1/16c. at the end of August. The wholesale price of refined sugar, after being marked down 20 points on Sept. 5, recovered the whole of the loss in an advance made on Sept. 11 and still another advance on Sept. 25. The result was that prices at the close of September were precisely the same as at the end of August, being 5.50c. at all the separate refineries with the Spreckels Sugar Corporation quoting a range of 5.50@5.55c. Coffee prices moved lower, and No. 7 Rio was quoted Sept. 30 at 15½@15⅝c. as against 16¼@16½c. Aug. 31; 16@16¼c. July 31; 16¾c. Saturday, June 29; 16¾@17c. May 31; 17½c. April 30; 17¾c. March 30; 18¼@18½c. Feb. 28, and the same at the end of January and the end of December.

THE UNITED STATES TREASURY SEPTEMBER FINANCING.

The United States Treasury's quarterly mid-month financing attracted more than the ordinary attention the present time, because of certain unusual features appertaining to the same. Secretary Mellon decided not to avail of the authority conferred upon him by the Act of Congress approved June 17 1929 to issue short-term Treasury bills on a discount basis and bearing no interest. The general opinion was that he was well advised in adopting this course, since in this country we are not yet familiar with Treasury bills of that description, though in Great Britain the practice has been a feature of Government financing for a very long time. It was felt that when inaugurating the practice in this country it ought to be under more favorable money market conditions than those prevailing at the present time —that is, when there shall be a greater supply of available funds, with money rates low, instead of a period of great tension and high rates, or, in other words, when money is easy—rather than tight. In brief, the view was that before embarking upon the new policy it would be well to wait until money market conditions got back to the normal. Apparently also the Treasury Department thought it would be well to wait for a more favorable opportunity before availing of the authority now possessed to finance the Government's needs by putting out bills on a discount basis. At all events, the old method of financing was continued and a new offering of Treasury certificates of indebtedness made. But here also the act of June 17 1929 involved a departure from the previous course in the issuance and offering of certificates.

In authorizing Treasury bills on a discount basis the new Act did not deprive the Treasury of the alternative of continuing to sell certificates of indebtedness, but it did make a very important change in the character of these certificates. It extended to them complete exemption from Federal income taxes, the same as the proposed Treasury bills, to be sold on a discount basis, are to have. Previously certificates of indebtedness were exempt only from the normal income taxes. Now they are exempt also from the surtaxes. As these surtaxes run to a maximum of 20% on incomes in excess of $100,000 a year, the importance and value of this further tax exemption readily becomes apparent.

Possessing this added degree of tax exemption, the Secretary of the Treasury felt warranted in reducing the rate of interest in his new offering of certificates. The offering was for $500,000,000, "or thereabouts," the certificates to run for a period of nine months, bearing date Sept. 16 1929, and maturing June 16 1930, with the rate of interest 4⅞%. In his financing the previous June the Secretary, when offering $400,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, also running nine months, fixed the rate of interest at 5⅛%, or ¼ of 1% higher than the rate in the new offering. The rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York at that time was only 5%, while since then it has been raised to 6%, and hence the 5⅛% rate of interest in the certificates was then higher even than the Federal Reserve rediscount rate. It was, in fact, the highest rate which the Treasury had been obliged to offer in any issue of certificates for eight years, or since 1921. In March 1929, in an offering of $475,000,000 of certificates the rate of interest was 4¾%, itself an exceptionally high figure. Yet this offering at 4¾% did not meet with a very flattering response. It brought subscriptions of no more than $523,000,000, the oversubscription being far below what had been expected. It was because of this very small oversubscription that the Secretary felt impelled to raise the rate of interest in his June offering to 5⅛%, and there was a further impelling cause in the fact that the March certificates were then selling on a price basis yielding in excess of 5%. It should be added that the Secretary had no difficulty in getting adequate subscriptions to the June offering at 5⅛%. In fact, though he offered only $400,000,000 at that time, the subscriptions aggregated no less than $1,118,862,000, out of which the Secretary made allotments to a total of $404,212,000.

The reduction now by Secretary Mellon of the rate of interest to 4¾% in his September offering of $500,000,000 certificates of indebtedness running for nine months, reflected simply the greater degree of tax exemption enjoyed by the new certificates. It did not imply belief on the part of the Secretary in an early easing of the money tension, as some Stock Exchange commentators hastily concluded at the time. The truth is, the lowering of the rate by only ¼ of 1% from the high rate paid in June was less than might have been expected in view of the added tax exemption. Excepting the First Liberty Loan 3½s, no issue of United States obligations now outstanding carries the privilege of total income tax exemption. And to be able to obtain 4⅞% interest on a fully tax exempt United States obligation was obviously something very rare. It was figured that the 4⅞% in the new certificates was equivalent to 6½% for non-exempt issues on incomes in excess of $100,000. The high rate insured an enormous oversubscription at the very start. As often explained in these columns, there has always been a considerable inducement for the banks to subscribe to certificates of indebtedness, either on their own account or for account of their depositors or patrons, and under the Act of June 17 1929 the inducement has been vastly increased. In the first place, the proceeds of these subscriptions are always left with the bank until the time when the Treasury has need of them, and draws them out. On such Government deposits the banks are obliged to pay to the Government only 2% interest per annum, whereas it has been possible for a long time to loan the money out on call on the Stock Exchange at 7% to 10%, and even at higher rates. This is one advantage. A second advantage is that being Government deposits, the banks are not obliged to maintain any cash reserves against the same. That certainly constitutes another important item. To all this there has now been added a third advantage in the exemption from the surtaxes. These begin with 1% on the first $4,000 above $10,000, and run to a maximum, as already stated, of 20% on the amount of income exceeding $100,000. The banks themselves of course are not able to avail of such exemption, being corporations, but wealthy patrons of the banks are, and, in any event, the proceeds of these subscriptions remain with the bank acting for these wealthy individuals with large income.

All this was bound to bring large subscriptions, as already stated, and it seems certain to bring still larger subscriptions on future issues of certificates, even at less attractive rates of interest, should it be deemed expedient to continue the issuance of certificates of indebtedness at subsequent quarterly periods of Government financing. There was one other new feature in the Treasury's September offering of certificates. In addition to accepting in payment for the new issues old issues of certificates maturing in September the Treasury offered to take at 98 and interest a total of $100,000,000 of any of the three issues of outstanding Treasury notes bearing 3½% interest and maturing in 1932. These notes, it was pointed out, were being purchased by the Government for sinking fund purposes, but obviously the step also meant that the Treasury was already beginning preparations for the retirement of these notes. In announcing the $500,000,000 offering of new certificates Secretary Mellon pointed out that the proceeds were needed to meet $510,000,000 of Treasury certificates due and payable on Sept. 15 1929, and that there was also $65,000,000 of interest on the public debt payable in September 1929, and over $149,000,000 in October 1929.

The subscription books for the new certificates were opened on Friday morning, Sept. 6, and were closed on Sept. 9, as subscriptions kept pouring in in great volume. Aggregate subscriptions reached $1,486,492,000. The Secretary made allotments altogether of $549,707,500 of the new certificates. Of this amount, $104,274,000 represented allotments on subscriptions for which Treasury certificates maturing Sept. 15 were tendered in payment, which subscriptions, as usual, were allotted in full. The total also included $100,000,000 allotted on subscriptions for which 3½% Treasury notes were tendered in payment. Allotments on other subscriptions were made on a graded scale. Secretary Mellon was careful to point out that the large oversubscription did not signify any prospective easing of the money market or indicate large supplies of funds seeking investment, but must be accepted as reflecting the attractiveness of the feature of total tax exemption on a United States obligation bearing 4⅞% interest.

THE STOCK MARKET DURING SEPTEMBER 1929.

Excepting the first few days of the month, the stock market was weak and depressed all through September and had numerous sinking spells, from which there were only fitful recoveries, and finally fell into a state of almost complete collapse, prices crumbling away on the last day of the month (Monday, Sept. 30) in a perfectly startling manner. All the time, however, there were independent upward movements in special stocks, not a few of which reached new high peaks for the year, as a result of operations by speculative groups who persisted in their campaign to carry their favorites still higher and who apparently had no difficulty in obtaining from the banks all the funds that they needed for the purpose. On the other hand, support appeared to be lacking in many of the stocks which had previously been manipulated upward in a very sensational way and had as a consequence induced an enormous amount of buying on the part of the general public. These stocks now displayed amazing weakness, and of course operators for a decline aided the movement downward. Upward rebounds occurred at varying interludes as selling pressure ceased and bear operators covered their outstanding short contracts. The two main influences underlying the general depression were, firstly, the fact that trade and business, after having resisted seasonal tendencies ordinarily existing towards a diminution of activity during the Summer months, were now showing some signs of slackening, manifestations of this being especially evident in the steel industry, and, secondly, the circumstance that brokers' loans on the security of stock and bond collateral not only failed to show the contraction so devoutly desired, but kept expanding and indeed now mounted in such a startling way as to incline even some of the most daring speculators to make pause. Many banking institutions, too, began to recognize the need of calling a halt, though this did not prevent, as already noted, star performances for higher prices in special stocks. In the end, however, even these latter were forced to desist and let their favorites slide downward with the rest of the market, confining themselvese, mainly, to retarding the downward pace in the stocks in which they were operating.

The market opened on Tuesday, Sept. 3, after the Labor Day holiday on Monday, Sept. 2, and after an absence of trading the previous Saturday, Aug. 31, on which day the Stock Exchange was closed, there having thus been an intervention of a three-day holiday period—the market opened after this long recess in most buoyant fashion, in continuation of the bullish movement that had characterized the most of the last three weeks of August, and prices bounded up in the same unrestrained fashion as before. Many new high records for the year were established all through the list. There had been a great accumulation of orders over the holidays, and buying was conducted with great avidity. More or less profit taking was in evidence, but it did not appear to make much impression upon prices. The money situation was not what could be desired, but was being given little consideration at this time. The call loan rate at the Stock Exchange remained unchanged from the previous week at 9%, but the prevailing view at that time regarding money found graphic expression in one of the market reviews for that day, which said: "Sentiment regarding the credit outlook was reassured by the activity of the Federal Reserve authorities in placing funds at the disposal of business through bill purchases in the open market." On Wednesday, Sept. 4, there was a further display of great buoyancy, and prices were carried still higher, in the great majority of cases, though a reactionary tendency developed in the afternoon on extensive sales to realize profits. On Thursday, Sept. 5, the market again showed great strength, but the Stock Exchange statement of brokers' loans for the month of August showing a further increase of $407,825,132 during that month, on top of $402,573,019 increase in July and $406,083,350 in June, making a total expansion of $1,216,481,501 for the three months, appeared to be producing much more of an impression than previous similar returns; operators for a decline, noticing this, began a severe drive against prices, precipitating violent declines in the afternoon all through the list. On Friday, Sept. 6, however, there was pronounced recovery, with some further new high prices for the year, notwithstanding that the weekly return of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York registered a further increase in brokers' loans for the latest week of $137,000,000. Stress was laid upon the fact that the United States Treasury, in its offering of certificates of indebtedness as part of its program of September financing, had fixed the rate of interest on the certificates at only 4⅞%, against 5⅛% in its offering of certificates the previous June. The fact that the lowering of the rate followed from the circumstance that the new issue of certificates enjoyed a far higher degree of tax exemption was entirely lost to sight. At the same time, as it happened, the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange on that day dropped to 6%. As a consequence, the market again took on a bullish hue, and most of the losses of the previous day were recovered.

After this, however, unqualified weakness developed, and this weakness acquired growing momentum as the month progressed, gainin g in force right up to the closing day, as already noted, relieved only by minor upward reactions from time to time, natural under the circumstances, and by upward movements in special stocks. A pronouncement by Roger W. Babson at this time, as related in the earlier part of this article, that sooner or later a crash would come which would bring a decline of from 60 to 80 points in leading stocks, fitted in well with the occasion, and was strongly stressed by those wishing to see stock values go lower and force a contraction in Stock Exchange loans. Liquidation on a very extensive scale now occurred. Some of the different groups of speculators appeared at length to have come to a realizing sense of the serious consequences involved in the constant expansion in Stock Exchange borrowing, week after week and month after month. The Stock Exchange's own statement of brokers' loans, revealing an increase of over $400,000,000 a month for three successive months, seemed to come as an eye-opener to many of those who had previously seen the total of borrowing of that description steadily rising without taking much, if any, notice of it. The banks also appeared to be becoming apprehensive, and to be bringing pressure to bear on the speculative fraternity to reduce its market commitments. Much was likewise made of the large reduction recorded in the unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corporation in its statement for the month of August, issued on Tuesday, Sept. 10. The steel stocks now became the weakest group in the entire Stock Exchange list. U. S. Steel itself, which had attained a new high for the year on Sept. 3, at 261¾, 10 days later, on Sept. 13, got down to 230½, a drop of over 31 points, it will be seen, and on the closing day of the month (Sept. 30), sold as low as 221⅛, a decline from the month's high of over 40 points. The advance in the Stock Exchange call loan rate on Tuesday, Sept. 10, to 10%, was a further weakening influence, but the drop back to 7% on Sept. 11 did not serve to stop the liquidation, though the market did enjoy somewhat of an upward reaction on that day. On Sept. 12 a further severe break occurred, and unfounded rumors gained currency that there was to be another advance in the rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. Call loans on that day ruled at 8% the entire day, and on Friday, Sept. 13, ranged down from 8% to 7%. On this last mentioned day, however, the further increase of $120,000,000 in brokers' loans shown in the Federal Reserve statement issued the previous evening dealt a new blow to Stock Exchange values, carrying prices to still lower levels, though a sharp rally occurred in the closing hour.

The market now suffered repeated sinking spells, and while enjoying occasional rallies, kept steadily losing strength. Stocks commanding the favor of group speculators operating for the rise stood out in sharp contrast in the general weakness, and some high-priced specialties were still being pushed up 5 or 10 points in a single day.

But these were exceptions, and merely emphasized the general weakness, and stocks not subject to manipulation either remained dormant or sagged badly. Upward spurts in money again came in to add to the prevailing depression. On Monday, Sept. 16, the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange ruled at 7½% all day, but the stock market was apathetic, except in the case of shares which commanded speculative favor. On Sept. 17 the call loan rate jumped to 10%, and on Sept. 18 the range was from 9% to 10%, though on Sept. 19, after renewals had been arranged at 10%, there was a drop in the rate for new loans to 7%. Opportunity on this last mentioned day was taken of this lower call loan rate to bid up prices, and this started a covering movement by shorts which brought an improvement in prices for the time being. On Friday, Sept. 20, however, with a further increase of $95,000,000 in the total of brokers' loans in the Federal Reserve statement issued the day before, caused a renewed tumble in values. The rest of the month the market had an exceedingly bad time of it. There was a renewed surge in money rates, call loans on the Stock Exchange touching 10% on Monday, Sept. 23, and after getting back to 8% on Sept. 24, rising again to 10% on Sept. 25. The rate remained at 9% on Sept. 26 and Sept. 27, but on Monday, Sept. 30, once more advanced to 10%. Then also the probability that the Bank of England rate would be raised from 5½% to 6½% became a practical certainty before the actual advance on Thursday, Sept. 26, as large withdrawals of gold from the Bank occurred day after day. The difficulties in which the so-called Clarence E. Hatry group of securities became involved on the London Stock Exchange appeared to have little relevancy to the state of things in this country, but was, nevertheless, used by bears to bring pressure against the market here. The London Stock Exchange suspended dealings in the securities referred to on Friday, Sept. 20, something quite unusual, and on Wednesday, Sept. 25, decided to defer for one month settlement in the shares of the seven companies involved. Some comfort was derived from news dispatches in the daily papers saying that Government revenues were proving so satisfactory that President Hoover was likely to urge Congress to enact legislation providing for a further reduction in taxes, though the precise form of reduction was as yet undetermined. On the strength of this rumor the stock market enjoyed a good sized rally on Tuesday, Sept. 24, but broke again badly in the afternoon. On Wednesday, Sept. 25, liquidation proceeded on a wide scale and the market fell into a state of almost a complete collapse, with large and general declines, as the call loan rate again mounted to 10%. In the last hour, however, a sharp upward reaction began under the influence of supporting orders, which suddenly appeared in all parts of the market, with the result that the rebound was almost as pronounced as the antecedent break, and in a number of stocks the whole or the greater part of the decline earlier in the day was recovered. Thus American Tel. & Tel., from 293¾ early in the day, fell to 286½, but closed at 292½, and Radio Corporation, after declining from 89⅞ to 85⅛, got back to 89⅞ at the close. U. S. Steel, from a high of 234¼ on that day, fell to 226½, but closed at 231½; American & Foreign Power, from a high of 184⅞, declined to 171½, and then recovered to 181½; Johns-Manville, from 207, fell to 193, and closed at 203, while J. I. Case Threshing, from 400, dropped to 383, and then closed at 396. The case of Adams Express furnished the most conspicuous instance of all; from a high of 630 it tumbled on that day to 575, a loss of 55 points, and then recovered to 630, its previous high.

But, as far as the general market was concerned, this rally again failed to be enduring. It is true that on Thursday, Sept. 26, the market became somewhat more settled, notwithstanding that the advance in the Bank of England discount rates occurred on that day, and the news of the advance was known at the opening of the Stock Exchange on that day, the effect of the action having been previously announced, and a feeling prevailed that the worst had now come to pass. But on Friday, Sept. 27, the knowledge conveyed in the Federal Reserve statement the previous evening that the brokers' loans total had run up $192,000,000 more, when some contraction had been looked for owing to the decline and liquidation in stocks, proved too much for the market, and it fell into a state of almost utter collapse, with only a slight rally in the closing hour. On Saturday, Sept. 28, and Monday, Sept. 30, prices continued their downward plunge, and the close on the latter day was in most instances, though not in all, at the lowest figures of the month, with big losses for the month, too, in not a few cases. The sales for the month on the New York Stock Exchange aggregated 100,056.120 shares, or larger than in any preceding September, but fell considerably short of the high record for any month which was reached in November 1928, when the month's business footed up no less than 150,360,075 shares. In September 1928 the volume of trading was also large, the sales reaching 90,578.701 shares, but in September 1927 the sales were only 51,576,590 shares, and in September 1926 they were no more than 37,030,166 shares. On the New York Curb Exchange the dealings aggregated 40,041,500 shares, which compares with 50,192,030 shares in August, and with 16,108,838 shares in September 1928.

It follows from what has been said that as far as the separate stocks are concerned the fluctuations in prices have been of wide extreme, this arising out of the fact that in many instances new high records for the year were made at the beginning of the month, after which progressive declines of large extent occurred. Nor have there been many exceptions to the general decline, all classes of stocks and all groups of properties having participated in the smash. The wide extremes of the fluctuations in the case of U. S. Steel have already been mentioned. General Electric fell from 397, Sept. 5, to 352¼ Sept. 28. American Tel. & Tel., after rising from 280, Sept. 13, to 310¼ Sept. 19, fell to 286½ on Sept. 25, and closed Sept. 30 at 293⅝. International Tel. & Tel. fell from 149¼, Sept. 3, to 122½ Sept. 30. Commercial Solvents B rose from 484 Sept. 10 to 700 Sept. 19, then dropped back to 615 Sept. 25, and closed Sept. 30 at 620. American Can dropped from 179⅜ Sept. 3 to 164¼ Sept. 13, then advanced to 182¾ Sept. 19, but closed Sept. 30 at 168½. American & Foreign Power, after moving up from 156½ Sept. 5 to 199¼ Sept. 21, closed Sept. 30 at 169; American International Corporation, after touching 96¾ Sept. 20, closed Sept. 30 at 85; General Motors fell from 79⅜ Sept. 7 to 66 Sept. 28; Chrysler from 74⅜ Sept. 7 to 55⅞ Sept. 30; Auburn Automobile tumbled from 514 Sept. 18 to 401 Sept. 30; Allis Chalmers fell from 317 Sept. 3 to 287 Sept. 25; Western Union Telegraph from 235½ Sept. 3 to 209¾ Sept. 30; Adams Express, after having first fallen from 593 Sept. 3 to 500 Sept. 4, and then touched 660 Sept. 26, closed Sept. 30 at 550 bid and 599 asked; Consolidated Gas of New York dropped from 183¼ Sept. 3 to 152⅛ Sept. 30; Pacific Gas & Electric from 98¾ Sept. 16 to 80⅞ Sept. 25; Union Carbide & Carbon from 140 Sept. 10 to 120 Sept. 28; International Harvester from 142 Sept. 3 to 115 Sept. 28; General Railway Signal from 126 Sept. 3 to 113⅛ Sept. 27; Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing from 289⅞ Sept. 3 to 228 Sept. 30; Anaconda Copper from 133¾ Sept. 7 to 115¼ Sept. 30; Greene-Cananea Copper from 200½ Sept. 7 to 174¼ Sept. 30; Kennecott Copper from 95¼ Sept. 9 to 81⅛ Sept. 28. May Department Stores, after jumping from 77½ Sept. 12 to 105 Sept. 13, closed Sept. 30 at 84. United States Rubber advanced from 45½ Sept. 4 to 58⅞ Sept. 17, but closed Sept. 30 at 52⅝. Houston Oil followed an independent course and rose from 74 Sept. 5 to 98¼ Sept. 30. Allied Chemical & Dye dropped from 354½ Sept. 3 to 312½ Sept. 30.

The railroad stocks also suffered severely. Many of these made new high records for the year in the early part of the month. New York Central fell from 256⅜ Sept. 3 to 218 Sept. 30; Baltimore & Ohio from 145⅛ Sept. 14 to 132 Sept. 30; Atchison from 295 Sept. 3 to 267 Sept. 27; Norfolk & Western from 290 Sept. 3 to 258 Sept. 30; Union Pacific from 296⅞ Sept. 3 to 264 Sept. 30; Southern Pacific from 157½ Sept. 3 to 142 Sept. 30; Erie from 93½ Sept. 9 to 80¼ Sept. 30; New Haven from 129⅞ Sept. 17 to 117⅛ Sept. 30; Reading from 147¾ Sept. 5 to 124 Sept. 30; Pennsylvania RR. (a half-share stock) from 109¾ Sept. 3 to 97⅝ Sept. 25; Lackawanna from 169¾ Sept. 10 to 150 Sept. 30; Canadian Pacific from 236¼ Sept. 5 to 218¼ Sept. 30; Rock Island from 143½ Sept. 3 to 132 Sept. 30; St. Louis-San Francisco from 132¾ Sept. 3 to 123 Sept. 30; Southern Railway from 162⅛ Sept. 4 to 152¾ Sept. 30, and Wabash from 71½ Sept. 4 to 63¾ Sept. 28. There were no great changes in railroad bonds aside from the fluctuations in the convertible issues. These followed the course of the stocks downward into which they are convertible.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING SEPTEMBER 1929.

There were no new developments in the money market during this month. The tension remained unrelieved. There was no change from the high rates prevailing for all classes of loans. On the contrary, there was a further stiffening of rates for time loans on security collateral. The Federal Reserve Banks kept adding to their holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market in the endeavor to assist the mercantile world, and the member banks being thus relieved to that extent of the necessity of financing mercantile needs in the ordinary way, were able to reduce somewhat the total of their discounts obtained at the Reserve Banks, but brokers' loans kept mounting higher and still higher in a most disquieting fashion. Call loans on the Stock Exchange repeatedly touched 10%, and on only one day got as low as 6%. Repeated breaks in prices on the Stock Exchange, with attending liquidation, did not serve to diminish the demand for loanable funds, and the continued growth in brokers' loans told plainly why this was so and afforded striking testimony to what was going on. Great absorption of funds in stock speculation was manifestly the dominating feature. Indeed, among observers in close touch with monetary conditions astonishment prevailed at the mildness of the upward spurts in call loan rates in view of the immense absorption of funds in security speculation. In addition, the latter part of the month, the marking up by the Bank of England of its rate of discount from 5½% to 6½% and the almost absolute certainty that developed some days before the event that this would have to be done, led to greater or smaller withdrawal of foreign funds invested or loaned out here. The first few days of the month all loans on the Stock Exchange were at the single figure of 9%. On Friday, Sept. 6, there was a sudden dip in the afternoon after the bulk of the business had been done for the day to 6%. But no loanable funds of any great amount seemed to be offered, and it appeared very clearly that this rate was not likely to last. The following Monday, Sept. 9, renewals were arranged at 8%, and all other loans were at the same figure. On Sept. 10, after renewals had again been effected at 8%, there was an advance to 10% in the rate for new loans. On Sept. 11, 9% had to be paid for renewals, but from this there was a drop to 7% in the rate for new loans. On Sept. 12, all loans were at 8%. On Friday, Sept. 13, with the renewal rate again 8%, some new loans were put through at 7%. The following Monday, Sept. 16, all loans were at 7½%, including renewals. On Sept. 17, after renewals had again been effected at 7½%, there was an advance to 10% in the rate for new loans, which was believed to be due in part at least to collections on checks held by the Government for income tax payments. This flurry was of longer duration than the ordinary. On Sept. 18, 9% had to be paid for renewals, while the rate for new loans again advanced to 10%. On Sept. 19, 10% had to be paid even for renewals, though before the close of the day the rate for new loans dropped to 7%. On Friday, Sept. 20, all loans were at 8%, including renewals. The following Monday, Sept. 23, the renewal charge was again 8%, but on heavy calling of loans, estimated at not less than $50,000,000, the rate for new loans advanced to 10%. On Sept. 24, all loans were at 8%, but on Sept. 25, with the renewal rate still 8%, the rate on new loans again touched 10%. On Sept. 26 and Sept. 27, all loaning was done at 9%, the last mentioned day being a Friday. The following Monday, Sept. 30, on preparations for the 1st of October dividend and interest disbursements, after renewals had been arranged at 9%, the rate for new loans again touched 10%.

In the case of time loans, quotations remained unchanged up to and including Sept. 17, at 8¾@9% for all periods from 30 days to 6 months, but beginning with Sept. 18 and up to and including Sept. 25, the rate was maintained at stiff 9% for all dates. On Sept. 26, the rate was advanced to 9@9¼% for all dates, and it remained at these figures the rest of the month. All this time transactions were very limited. The commercial paper market continued quiet all through the month, with little or no manifestations of interest, and the latter part of the month fell into the doldrums. Rates for names of choice character maturing in four to six months remained throughout nominally at 6@6¼%, while the rate for names less well known continued at 6¼@6½%, with New England mill paper quoted at the same figure.

The market for banks' and bankers' acceptances continued quiet the first half of the month, with occasional limited periods of activity, but showed considerable improvement the remainder of the month, and gradually strengthened in character, with the tone quite good. Cotton acceptances came into the market, and there was an excellent general demand for prime bills. No changes in rates occurred at any time during the month. The posted rates of the American Acceptance Council continued unchanged at 5¼% bid and 5⅛% asked for bills running 30 days, 60 days, and 90 days; at 5⅜% bid and 5¼% asked for 120 days, and at 5⅝% bid and 5½% asked for 150 and 180 days. The improvement in the market for acceptances followed in considerable part from the fact that the Federal Reserve Banks continued to enlarge their holdings of acceptances—in quite considerable amount, too. From a total of $156,514,000 Aug. 28, the holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions increased to $263,934,000 Sept. 25, and to $322,818,000 Oct. 2; the previous July 10 the acceptance holdings of the 12 Reserve banks aggregated no more than $65,976,000. The holdings of acceptances by the Reserve bank for foreign correspondents continued to vary somewhat from week to week, but remained very large and far above the Reserve banks' own holdings of acceptances; from $447,997,000 Aug. 28, these holdings of acceptances for the foreign correspondents of the Reserve banks increased to $453,020,000 Sept. 4; from this there was a drop to $446,973,000 Sept. 11, then an increase to $448,503,000 Sept. 18, and a further increase to $455,776,000 Sept. 25, with the amount Oct. 2 at $453,908,000.

The volume of acceptances outstanding kept steadily growing. Under date of Sept. 18 the American Acceptance Council reported an increase in the total of acceptances outstanding during the month of August in amount of $73,837,341, and an increase for June and July combined of $87,486,900. This brought the total, Aug. 31, up to $1,200,536,146 as against $952,051,109 on Aug. 31 1928; $782,055,029 Aug. 31 1927, and only $582,634,951 on Aug. 31 1926. In view of this great expansion, Robert H. Bean, Executive Secretary of the American Acceptance Council, was moved to say: "With every indication that the current year will develop an even greater seasonal increase, there is reason to believe that our total acceptance business at the end of 1929 will be above $1,500,000,000." Moreover, Mr. Bean expressed the opinion that "it is a reasonable probability that the dollar acceptance total of a few years hence will be in excess of $2,500,000,000." Meanwhile, the volume of ordinary commercial paper outstanding has continued at low levels. The Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for Oct. 1 remarked that though open market outstandings of commercial paper had increased about ½ of 1% in August, following a continuous and substantial decline during the previous five months, the total at the end of August at $267,000,000 was nearly 42% smaller than at the same date in the previous year.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

Brokers' loans continued on their upward course with startling momentum, and those who looked for contraction were sadly disappointed. The grand total of the loans reached staggering proportions. Between Aug. 14 and Aug. 28 this total had risen, as narrated in our review for that month, from $5,952,000,000 to $6,217,000,000. From this there was an increase to $6,354,000,000 Sept. 4; to $6,474,000,000 Sept. 11; to $6,569,000,000 Sept. 18; to $6,761,000,000 Sept. 25, and to $6,804,000,000 Oct. 2. This made $852,000,000 increase in seven weeks. Inasmuch as during the month of September the stock market suffered repeated sinking spells, during which prices experienced severe declines, with extensive liquidation of weakly held speculative accounts, these further huge additions, week after week, came as a complete surprise and produced no little consternation. Various explanations were offered, none of them, however, very convincing. It was urged that these brokers' loans no longer could be accepted as any indication of stock speculation and that the further large increases from week to week must be ascribed to other causes, and particularly to the operation of investment trusts and holding companies, who are, as is known, extending their activities in most surprising degree, and are making very extensive appeals for new capital. But while this had a great air of plausibility and might have application to the showing for some particular week, when the subscription calls for the new capital sought were especially large, it was evident that it could not count as a factor for a whole long series of weeks, especially as the demands for new capital, as a rule, met with ready success, and there was not the slightest evidence going to show that any large applications had to be carried in the accounts of brokerage houses. Apparently what actually happened was that the stocks shaken out passed to owners who borrowed upon them just as freely as the former owners.

The investment trusts themselves are known to possess enormous supplies of free funds, large portions of which they are loaning out on the Stock Exchange on call at the high figures to be obtained there. The new capital that they have been obtaining would add still further to the funds available for the making of loans at call on the Stock Exchange. As a matter of fact, nearly the whole of the new expansion in brokers' loans appears in the category of loans denominated as being "for account of others," under which head the loans for investment trusts and holding companies appear, these loans for "account of others" standing distinct from those which the reporting member banks make for their own account or which they made for account of out-of-town banks. If comparison be made between the figures for Aug. 14 and those for Sept. 25, between which dates the grand total of these brokers' loans has risen from $5,952,000,000 to $6,804,000,000, the part played by these loans "for account of others" is conspicuously apparent. In that category or subdivision the loans have run up from $3,178,000,000 to $3,907,000,000, being an addition of $729,000,000, out of $852,000,000 increase in the grand total of the loans. In the same period of six weeks the loans made by the reporting member banks for their own account increased only from $965,000,000 to $1,071,000,000, and those made for account of out-of-town banks from $1,810,000,000 to $1,826,000,000.

The monthly Stock Exchange figures relative to the borrowing on brokerage account do not deal with the different sources of borrowing upon the part of the Stock Exchange houses, and, in truth, these houses, in borrowing from the banks, presumably have no knowledge as to whether the money they obtain is supplied by the banks out of their own account or the account of out-of-town banks, or yet the account of others, but these Stock Exchange figures afford even more emphatic testimony to the way Stock Exchange borrowing is expanding, than do the weekly returns of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. As previously explained, the Stock Exchange figures, being on a more comprehensive basis than the Federal Reserve figures, and covering the whole field of Stock Exchange borrowing, the totals are always of even larger proportions than those of the Federal Reserve Bank. It is only necessary to say here, with reference to these Stock Exchange figures, that for the month of September they show a further expansion of $667,764,553, following $407,825,132 increase in August; $402,573,019 increase in July, and $406,083,350 in June, making a new addition for the four months combined of $1,884,246,054. On June 30 the Stock Exchange total for the first time ran in excess of seven billion dollars, reaching $7,071,221,275; for July 31 the total moved up to $7,473,794,294, and for Aug. 31 to $7,881,619,426. Now for Sept. 30 it has passed away above the eight billion dollar mark, and, in fact, is approaching the nine billion dollar mark, being $8,549,383,979.

The further huge expansion in brokers' loans during September was not accompanied by new borrowing on the part of the member banks at the Federal Reserve institutions. One reason for this was that the action of the Reserve banks in resuming the purchase of bankers' acceptances in the open market led, as already explained, to a large increase in the creation of acceptances, thereby relieving the member banks from the necessity of providing for mercantile needs in the ordinary way. Another reason was that the further growth in brokers' loans was almost entirely in the loans classed "for account of others," against which loans the banks do not feel obliged to carry any cash reserves. A third reason was that as a result of the mid-month September financing of the United States Treasury, Government deposits with the member banks were very heavily increased, as has always happened at quarterly periods of Treasury financing. On Sept. 11 Government deposits with all the reporting member banks throughout the country were nil; on Sept. 18 they were $227,000,000 (and if the figures were available for the non-reporting banks the total would stand still larger); two weeks afterward, on Oct. 2, the amount of these Government deposits with the reporting member banks still stood at $227,000,000.

We have said that the member banks had not increased their borrowing at the Reserve institutions during September, notwithstanding the enormous further expansion in brokers' loans. The discount holdings of the Reserve banks are the measure of such borrowing. In the week from Aug. 28 to Sept. 4 these discount holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions did increase from $973,627,000 to $1,046,016,000, but from this there was a decline to $972,927,000 Sept. 11, and to $933,916,000 Sept. 18, which was then followed by an increase to $944,399,000 Sept. 25, with the amount Oct. 2 $930,633,000. The holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market, as noted above, increased from $156,514,000 Aug. 28 to $263,934,000 Sept. 25 and to $322,818,000 Oct. 2. Holdings of United States Government securities were increased from $145,321,000 Aug. 28 to $177,609,000 Sept. 18, mainly as the result of the issuance of some temporary certificates of indebtedness by the United States Treasury to the Reserve banks pending the collection of the income tax payments, and then fell to $152,059,000 Sept. 25, and to $145,752,000 Oct. 2. Altogether total bill and security holdings, which measure the amount of Reserve credit outstanding, after having increased from $1,291,562,000 Aug. 28 to $1,394,012,000 Sept. 4, were maintained relatively steady thereafter, the amount Sept. 11 being reported at $1,370,270,000; Sept. 18, $1,367,676,000; Sept. 25, $1,375,467,000, and Oct. 2, $1,414,228,000.

At the Federal Reserve Bank of New York total bill and security holdings, after running up in the week ending Sept. 4 from $356,851,000 to $442,628,000, fell off again to $393,083,000 Sept. 11, and were $397,620,000 Sept. 18; $394,788,000 Sept. 25, and $320,720,000 Oct. 2.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING SEPTEMBER.

The overshadowing feature in sterling exchange during September was, of course, the advance in the discount rate of the Bank of England from 5½% to 6½% on Thursday, Sept. 26. The rate had been raised the previous Feb. 7 from 4½ to 5½%, and the Governors of the Bank resisted to the utmost this second advance of 1% for the reason, firstly, of the possible ill effects on British trade and, secondly, for the reason that the move itself was unpopular and extremely disliked by the MacDonald Labor Ministry, which is at the helm in the British Government. But in the final week of the month gold withdrawals from the Bank, in part for the United States, and some also for Germany, though mainly for France, proceeded on such a scale that further delay might have involved menace. The weekly return of the Bank for Sept. 4 showed a relatively small further reduction in the gold holdings, the decrease being only £84,937, and the return for Sept. 11 also showed no very large loss, only £156,159, and even the statement for Sept. 18 presented nothing alarming in a loss of £471,581 more of gold, especially as circulation concurrently showed a contraction of £3,103,000, so that reserves increased by the amount of the difference, namely £2,632,000. In the following week, however, the takings of gold for export were very heavy, and the gold came mainly from the Bank, so that the Bank return for Sept. 25 revealed a loss of the metal for the week ending on that day in amount of no less than £3,708,435. This brought the gold holdings of the Bank down to £133,212,565, whereas the Cunliffe Committee had recommended a minimum of £150,000,000. The situation was evidently becoming precarious, and the Governors of the Bank concluded not to defer any longer what had long appeared inevitable. At £133,212,565 gold holdings of the Bank compared with £173,204,657 a year previously, on Sept. 26, shortly before the amalgamation of the fiduciary currency with Bank of England notes, thus showing a loss of, roughly, £40,000,000, or say $200,000,000.

The advance in the rate had immediate effect in stiffening rates of exchange and bringing them up to a point which precluded the taking of any further gold for shipment to the United States at a profit. Cable transfers on London on Tuesday, Sept. 3 (Monday, Sept. 2, having been Labor Day and a holiday here) were 4.84¾@4.84 13/16, and from this there was a decline to 4.84 19/32 on Sept. 18, which low figure continued on the three succeeding days, but on Monday, Sept. 23, the rate moved fractionally higher, it then becoming apparent, in view of the large further withdrawals of gold, that an advance in the Bank rate on Thursday, Sept. 26, was inevitable. On Wednesday, Sept. 26, the rate got up to and above 4.85, the range being 4.85@4.85 3/16, and from this there was an advance to 4.85 5/16@4.85⅝ on Sept. 26; on Sept. 30 the range was up to 4.85½@4.86 1/16. Further takings of gold for the United States were now, as already stated, rendered out of the question, and while some further amounts of gold were taken for French account on subsequent days, Anglo-French exchange also showed some slight change for the better. The Bank of England return the next week, or for Oct. 2, showed, however, that the Bank had not strengthened its gold reserves, a further decrease in the gold holdings to £130,343,588 appearing. The influences affecting sterling exchange during September were the same as in the previous month. By reason of the high money rates prevailing at New York the flow of funds from London to this country continued very heavy, while concurrently the season was at hand when Great Britain would have to make provision for large importations of cotton and wheat. In addition, tourist expenditures by Americans abroad were dwindling.

The advance in the Bank of England rate to 6½% once more brought the British bank rate above the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which stands at 6%. However, the New York Reserve rate continued far below the call loan rate for collateral loans in the New York security market. Open market discounts in London followed the advance in the Bank of England rate pretty closely and three months' bills at London rose to 6 3/16 on Thursday, Sept. 26, and were 6¼@6 5/16 Sept. 30. Engaagements of gold at London for New York account continued all through the month up to the time of the raising of the bank rate, the gold, however, being largely purchased in the open market. Not all of this gold had arrived here by the end of the month. The New York Federal Reserve Bank estimates the actual arrivals of gold in the United States during September at $15,000,000, of which $8,054,000 is credited to Great Britain, $2,500,000 to the Argentine, $3,570,000 to Bolivia, $504,000 to Colombia, and the rest to other countries. The exports from the United States are given as only about $800,000, but $6,600,000 more gold was ear-marked for foreign account, leaving the net gain to the country, for the month, at $7,600,000. The Reserve Bank figures that as against $10,300,000 sent abroad from Great Britain in August the British shipments of the metal in September were $7,800,000, the bulk going to France. In the course of the movement, which began in mid-June, and up to Sept. 28, it is estimated that the Bank lost gold to the amount of £32,700,000 net in round amounts. In this period the United States received from London £6,400,000 of the metal, Germany £16,900,000, and France £23,300,000, these figures covering takings in the open market as well as from the Bank of England.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

The Continental exchanges all through the month were under the influence of the weakness in sterling exchange. The French and German exchanges were adverse to London, otherwise the gold takings at that center for French and German account would have been out of the question. With the advance in the Bank of England rate and the rise in exchange rates here on London, New York exchange on the different Continental centers likewise moved up almost without exception. The Scandinavian central banks followed the action of the Bank of England in raising their rates the very same day, the Bank of Denmark, which had been maintaining a 5% rate since June 24 1926, moving up to 5½%; the Bank of Norway, which had been holding to 5½% since March 26 1928, moving up to 6%, and the Bank of Sweden, which had been holding to 4½% since Aug. 24 1928, advancing to 5½%. The next day, namely Friday, Sept. 27, the Bank of Austria, which had kept its rate at 7½% since April 23 1929, marked up the rate to 8½%.

The Bank of France, of course, showed steady enlargement of its gold holdings, reporting 75,734,000 francs increase in the week ending Sept. 7; 24,043,328 francs Sept. 14; 39,857,259 francs Sept. 21, and 350,452,367 francs Sept. 28. The Bank of Germany showed a decrease of 97,000 marks in its gold holdings the first week of September, but 3,008,000 marks increase the second week of the month, 5,655,000 marks increase the third week, and 20,038,000 marks the fourth week. The note circulation of the Reichsbank followed the usual course, showing 294,676,000 marks decrease the first week; 190,870,000 marks the second week, and 209,756,000 marks the third week, with 712,313,000 marks increase in the final week. The Continental exchanges moved upward, the same as sterling. Checks on Paris, as against 3.91@3.91¼ at the opening of the month, got down to 3.90 13/16@3.91⅛ on Sept, 12, but Thursday, Sept. 26 were 3.91½@3.91⅞, and on Sept. 30 were 3.91¾@3.92⅛. German exchange showed no very great change until the last week of the month, when a sharp advance occurred as a result of the marking up of the Bank of England discount rate. Checks on Berlin were 23.77⅜@23.80 on Sept. 3, and 23.78@23.80½ on Sept. 23, but on Thursday, Sept. 26, moved up to 23.80½@23.84, with the range Sept. 30 23.81¼@23.83. Italian exchange held relatively steady throughout the greater part of the month, but also moved sharply upward on the Thursday the Bank of England rate was raised, on which day checks were quoted at 5.23⅜@5.23⅝ as against 5.22⅞@5.22⅞ on the opening day of the month; on Sept. 30 the range was 5.23@5.23¼.

The exchanges on the countries neutral during the war were generally strong even before the advance in the Bank of England discount rate, and this advance gave them a further upward impulse. Dutch guilders for checks were on Sept. 26 quoted as high as 40.12@40.14 against 40.02½@40.05 at the opening of September; the range Sept. 30 was 40.09@40.12½. Swiss francs for checks sold up to 19.27½@19.29 Sept. 27 as against 19.23½ Sept. 3, and were 19.27¾ Sept. 30. As to the Scandianavian exchanges, these showed some weakness just before the advance in the English bank rate, but moved sharply upward following the advance. The Danish crown for checks ranged at 26.64½@26.66½ Sept. 26 and was 26.65@26¾ Sept. 30 against 26.60@26.60½ Sept. 3. The Swedish crown touched 26.80½ Sept. 27 and was 26.79½ Sept. 30, against 26.77@26.77½ Sept. 3. The Norwegian crown touched 26.66½ Sept. 26 and was 26.65½@26.67 Sept. 30, against 26.61½ on Sept. 3. Spanish pesetas showed an advancing tendency all through the month as a result of the operations of the Foreign Exchange Committee at Madrid, which were designed to keep the rate firm while the International Fairs were in progress at Barcelona and Seville, and also in pursuance of the program to stabilize the peseta at some level more nearly aproaching the prewar parity of 19.30. Checks on Madrid were 14.80@14.81 Sept. 26, and the same Sept. 30, against 14.72@14.74 Sept. 3.

The South American exchanges were again without special feature. Imports of gold from Argentina continued on a considerable scale, as already noted, and there were also large shipments to London, without, however, having much effect on exchange rates. On the contrary, the peso on Argentina sharply declined, no doubt due in part to the disturbances in the local labor situation; the peso for checks on Sept. 30 was 41.90@41.97 against 41.93@41.98 Sept. 3. Milreis on Brazil were firm, being quoted at 11.86@11.87 on Sept. 30 as against 11.86 on Sept. 3. The peso on Chile was higher at 12.07@12⅛ Sept. 30 against 12.04@12.10 Sept. 3.

The Far Eastern exchanges, in the case of the silver standard countries, were lower as a consequence of the continued decline in the price of silver, but the Japanese yen continued to move higher in response to the growing confidence in the new finance ministry. This confidence was not impaired any by the issuance of a statement by the Finance Minister declaring that the embargo upon gold exports would not be removed during the remainder of 1929. It was generally expected that the Diet would be dissolved in January and that the Hamaguchi Government would call for a general election with the hope of obtaining a majority in the new body, which it lacks in the existing Parliament. Until the political position of the Government is consolidated it is obliged to withhold action on its financial program because of the difficulties to be encountered from the opposition. The yen for checks on Yokohama was quoted at 47.85@48 1/16 Sept. 30 against 46.60@46¾ Sept. 3. Dollars on Hong Kong were 47 9/16@48 Sept. 30, against 48 1/16@48⅜ Sept. 3, and the tael on Shanghai was 55¼@55⅜ Sept. 30, against 57½@57 9/16 Sept. 3. There was no change of any consequence in rupees on Bombay. The price of silver in London was down to 23 3/16d. per ounce Sept. 30 as compared with 24¼d. at the close of August.

The tables on pages 15 to 36 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during September and the range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations
OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges o the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

	Page		Page		Page
Steam Railroad Bonds	78	Public Utility Bonds	88	Insurance Stocks and Scrip	120
Steam Railroad Stocks	82	Public Utility Stocks	90	Real Estate Trust and Land Stocks	98
Joint Stock Land Bank Bonds	84	Industrial & Miscellaneous Bonds	93	Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Stocks	98
Joint Stock Land Bank Stocks	84	Industrial & Miscellaneous Stocks	96	United States and Municipal Bonds	101
Federal Land Bank Bonds	103	Exchange Seats	95	Canadian Municipal Bonds	103
Real Estate Bonds	98	Textile Manufacturing Stocks	96	Foreign Government Bonds	103
Investment Trust Stocks and Bonds	101	Mining Stocks	96

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom, however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return. Recently however, owing to the tension in the money market, it has happened in not a few instances that the shorter maturities have been yielding the highest rate of return and the longer maturities the lowest rate of return, and where that happens to be the case, the range has been reversed to read, say 4.35% to 4.25%.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

Banks & Trust Companies

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest-weekly statement.
